Girl with a Pearl Earring is an oil painting by Dutch Golden Age painter Johannes Vermeer, dated c. 1665. Going by various names over the centuries, it became known by its present title towards the end of the 20th century after the large pearl earring worn by the girl portrayed there. The work has been in the collection of the Mauritshuis in The Hague since 1902 and has been the subject of various literary treatments. In 2006, the Dutch public selected it as the most beautiful painting in the Ne

In any case, the most frequently mentioned candidate for the model for the Girl with a Pearl Earring is Vermeer ' s eldest daughter Maria, who was probably born in 1654. Maria would have been about twelve by 1665-1667, the dating scholars have assigned to the painting, although dating Vermeer's work has proved particularly vexing.
